Combating Maternity Care Deserts: A Sustainable Hub-and-Spoke Model is the second session in the Critical Access and Rural Health Learning Collaborative's virtual webinar series on ob-gyn care in resource-limited settings. The session explores approaches for addressing maternity care deserts by connecting rural hospitals and their patients with regional specialty care. Subject matter experts Tamara Helfer, MD, MBA, FACOG, and Todd Pankratz, MD, FACOG, share real-world examples of how coordinated care networks, satellite clinics, and integrated care teams can help maintain obstetric services in rural communities. The webinar also explores policy and workforce strategies to strengthen rural maternity care access.
